

Mephisto's Affinity

LENGTH, 635 Feet

COPYRIGHT 1908

Mephisto receives from his wife leave of absence to earth for twenty four hours. While there he meets his affinity in a beautiful statue. He brings the marble to life and then starts out to have a good time.

Twenty four hours have passed and Mephisto still lies in the charms of his affinity. He forgets all about time and place until he is rudely awakened by Mrs. Mephisto, who comes to earth to see what keeps her beloved one away from her. She breaks up the Affinity Game and takes her husband home with her.

Adventures of Mr. Troubles

LENGTH, 275 Feet

Dear Mr. Troubles always trying to help everybody and forever getting himself into a muddle. His wife cleans house and he succeeds in smashing most of the furniture in his honest desire to help her. His efforts are rewarded by being driven out in very early morning.

He next ruins the camera of a moving picture man—breaks up the stock of a crockery man—tries to help a painter—upsets a corpulent African—defends a wife against a pugilistic husband, with the usual result—is run over by an automobile; until at last, badly battered, he seeks the shelter of his own room.
